GENERAL ELECTION CAMPAIGN ON OUR WAY!

DURING THE THREE weeks leading up to the General Election the National Front will be distributing a total of 1,000,000 pieces of literature. Up and down the country National Front branches are busy preparing for the biggest campaign we have mounted for nearly a decade.

Each parliamentary candidate fielded by the National Front will be supported by a full campaign of leaflets, postering, canvassing, etc. all aimed at persuading the British people that the National Front is the only party able to offer a realistic alternative to the three old parties.

Our electoral slogan will be: "Caring For Britain" and we will be concentrating on a number of specific issues:-

THE ECONOMY

The National Front will be calling for the protection of our industries, penalties for foreign imports, the lowering of interest rates by withdrawing from the European Community, and an immediate reduction in VAT.

HEALTH & WELFARE

The National Front will be advocating the maintenance and improvement of an entirely free National Health Service, the abolition of prescription charges and an increase in the funding of the NHS so that waiting lists can be eliminated.

LAW & ORDER

The National Front will be campaigning for the Restoration of Capital Punishment for crimes of murder, terrorism, and large scale drug trafficking. Our slogan will be "Punish the Criminals, Protect the Victims".

THE FAMILY

The National Front will be calling for an increase in child allowance, the provision of free school meals for all, and the introduction of a new bill to allow tax relief on creche facilities. The NF pledges that all Britons will be provided with a decent home to live in.

We will, of course, also be setting out some of our other policies on race, defeating the IRA and the environment, and how we would fund some of the above proposals.

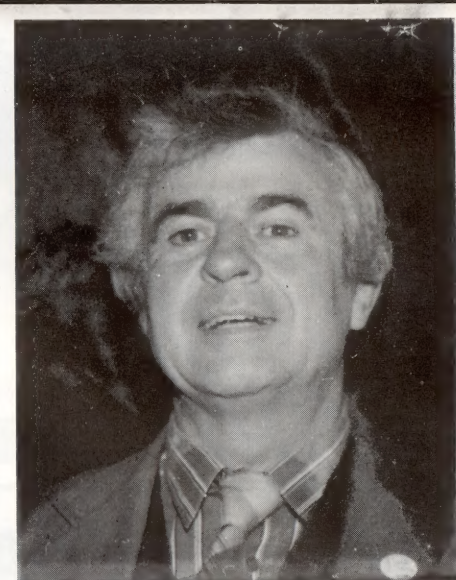

We believe that for the first time the National Front will be able to offer the British people an attractive alternative presented in a friendly and pleasant manner.

The General Election will be our first major opportunity to capitalise on the changes we have made within our organisation over the past few years and we are confident that the British people will take their first few hesitant steps towards regaining control over their country and their own lives.

GENERAL ELECTION APPEAL

MOST OF our branches are well prepared for the General Election, however a few of the newer ones are still short of the money they need to run a full and professional campaign. Branches such as Derby, which has only been going for a short time, are fielding a candidate but they still need help if they are to give their candidate the support he deserves.

We have set up a central fund to help branches such as Derby and we would ask you to help us by sending in a donation as quickly as possible. Every penny sent in will help our branches fully promote their candidate and attract new voters and members to the National Front.

Send your donation to: The National Front, P.O. Box 230, Worthing, Sussex. Cheques payable to the National Front. Please mark on reverse: General Election Fund.

CHANGING FACE OF BRITAIN'S HOSPITALS

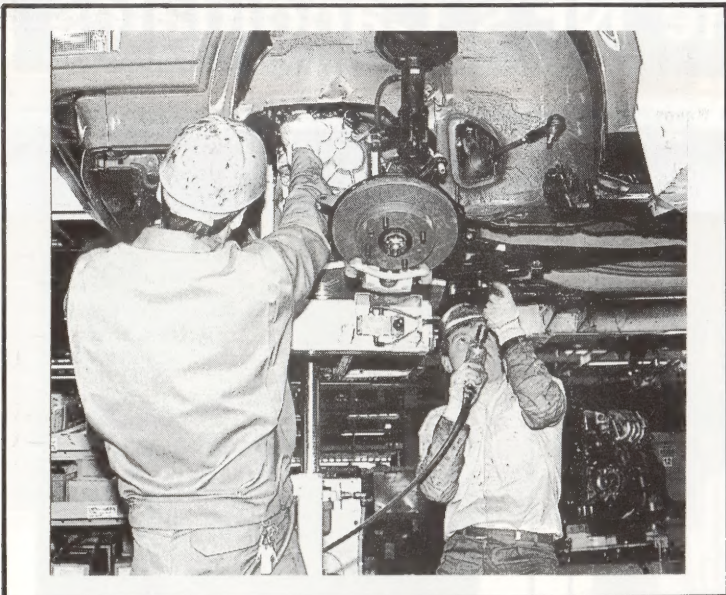

3000 NURSES, porters and cleaners have disappeared from the NHS in the North-West over the last three years and been replaced by 1,000 administrative and clerical workers, mainly accountants and computer staff.

Georgina Lucas, the Royal College of Nursing's regional officer, said "There's been a real rundown in front line care. Wards have closed and there just aren't enough nurses to give the standard of care required."

"The National Health Service today is all about how many people the accountants can get in and out of hospital in a day. It's not about quality care."

The National Front believes that our National Health Service has suffered from a surfeit of meddling and re-organisation, and a National Front Government would restore a degree of continuity and indeed sanity, to an already overworked system.

While the NF is not opposed to private medicine and health schemes we believe that these should be kept entirely separate from the NHS. The National Front believes that National Health Service facilities should be absolutely free to every British citizen.

THE WAR JAPAN IS WINNING!

JAPANESE CAR plants being built in Britain are a 'looming threat' to our own motor industry, the head of the British motor industry warned on January 23rd. Sir Hal Miller, Chief Executive of the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders, which represents Britain's car and truck makers, said that the new Japanese car plants would simply squeeze out existing British plants.

Speaking of a new Toyota plant being built near Derby, the motor supremo asked "If the market place is further depressed, what is going to happen to Japanese production coming onto stream in this country? Will it be additional to existing capacity or will it merely displace jobs from Dagenham to Derby?"

The Japanese threat already looms large over the British motor industry. Nissan has just announced plans to up production at its Sunderland plant by 30% to 270,000 cars a year. Honda plans to make 100,000 cars a year at its Swindon factory. While the Toyota plant at Burnaston, Derbyshire, which prompted Sir Hal's warning, will flood the British market with 200,000 Japanese cars a year.

Meanwhile 70,000 jobs have been lost already in Britain's car industry since the current recession started and the SMMT fears that entire plants will have to close.

As chief representative of the industry Sir Hal Miller ought to know what the effect of Japanese plants on it will be. That makes his warning the more to be heeded. Especially by the Tory Party, for whom Sir Hal sits in the Commons as MP for Bromsgrove.

For it is Tory policy, backed by Labour and Liberals, to bribe the Japs to set up "screwdriver plants" where Britons can act as cheap labour to assemble Japanese cars.

Just as it was under the Tories, and Labour before them, that our existing British car and truck plants were sold off to the Americans, the French and the Dutch. Until today there are no British-owned plants left at all.

Only the National Front says British motor workers deserve better than to be exploited and dumped on the dole by foreigners-Yanks, Continentals and now Japs. Our motor workers should be working in British factories making British vehicles for British roads.

Is This Really What Our Policemen should be Doing?

POLICEMEN IN Middlesbrough are pictured above at prayers with Muslims in a local mosque. The two officers are "building links" with the 15,000 Pakistani community in the town in an effort to recruit members of this ethnic minority to the local force.

Such antics leave the police open to ridicule and resentment, not only from the indigenous population by from the Pakistani Community themselves. You can almost tell by the smug look on the faces of these Muslims that they have got the British law enforcement officers exactly where they want them.

To be able to perform their duties in a fair and professional manner the Police must command the respect of the community. By currying favour with just one section of the community, and by making a spectacle of themselves they are making their job with the British people in the North-East just that much harder.

NF calls for investment in our Merchant Navy as . . .

FLAGGED OUT FLEET EXCEEDS THAT UNDER THE RED ENSIGN!

A TOTAL of 281 UK-owned ships of over 500 tons are now registered overseas, according to the 1991 annual report of the Chamber of Shipping.

The number of UK registered ships is 308, although in terms of tonnage the flagged-out fleet far exceeds what remains under the Red Ensign. Of the 15.3 million tonnes of shipping owned in the UK, 11.6 million tonnes is accounted for by ships registered outside the country.

ACCOUNTS

The contraction of Britain's Merchant Fleet is illustrated by the latest annual accounts of the Merchant Navy Ratings' Pension Fund.

The number of seafarers contributing to the fund out of their wages has fallen to under 10,000 for the first time since it was set up in 1978.

The National Front believes that massive investment must be made in British shipping. British ships should be built in Britain at British Shipyards by British Workers, and British ships should only be manned by British sailors.

Filipinos Before Britons

THE BRITISH Government is funding the training of Filipino seamen to replace British seamen on British ships.

The move follows the replacement of British ratings on Cunard's QE2 by Third World nationals who work for a third of the wages of British seamen.

The Government's scheme is part of a deal made with the Directors of Cunards to enable the company to make a bigger profit at the expense of British seamen and their families.

It is a disgrace that the most prestigious of our passenger liners, bearing the name of our monarch, should be crewed by any other than proven, able, professional British seamen.

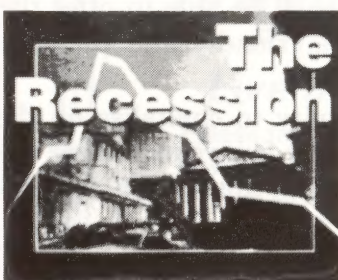

THE TORY DREAM . . .

THAT BECAME A NIGHTMARE!

THE TORY dream of owning your own home turned into a nightmare for more than 80,000 families in England and Wales who failed to keep up with mortgage repayments last year and now face eviction.

ONSLAUGHT

Property buyers of the late eighties faced the double onslaught of rising interest rates and a falling market price leaving them in an impossible position. Many families didn't wait for the repossession orders to be issued, they just sent the keys to their building society and turned their back on their home and their life-savings investment. But even these people are being pursued by building societies into bankruptcy.

The ownership of your own home and the land it is built on should be encouraged. It means that you own part of your country and it gives the necessary bond between people and land. But the Tory idea of home-ownership in reality was just the purchasing of property by the banks and building societies with the resident a mere lodger paying a rent to the bank. When the lodger was unable to pay the rent, he was evicted.

The National Front would see that people REALLY owned their own home by enabling them to purchase their home with low and fixed interest loans made by the Government not profit-motivated banks or building societies.

BRITISH RESEARCHERS BETTER OFF IN MEXICO!

BRITISH RESEARCHERS are being starved of the most powerful computers which are able to perform massive computational tasks such as forecasting the weather, modelling the behaviour of aircraft and jet engines or predicting whether a new compound will have applications as a drug.

Japan, Germany, the US, Canada and France all have better access to the supercomputers and even Mexico has more capacity available per researcher than Britain.

SECOND CLASS PUPILS

BRITISH SCHOOLCHILDREN in inner London are falling behind with their studies because teachers are paying more attention to pupils from the ethnic minorities.

A research document published by Prof. Desmond Nuttall of the London School of Economics found that teachers discriminate against British children by expecting less of them than they do of ethnic minority children.

BETRAYED AGAIN!

MR. MICHAEL Hindley, Lancashire East Labour M.E.P., is doing some advance planning to locate, and possibly tap, a future source of Labour voters.

As well as being the author of three Euro-Parliamentary reports on Chinese affairs, he is also on the editorial board of the UK's only (at present) Anglo-Chinese magazine.

He will, as politicians do, try to influence the voting of the Chinese hordes from Hong Kong when they arrive here (or via the magazine at present?) And will call upon his oriental experience to boost Labour's share of their vote.

As has happened in the past and will continue in the future, the British working folks' concerns will be abandoned by the party that once genuinely cared for them.

The British working folk are now realising that only the National Front will put their concerns first.

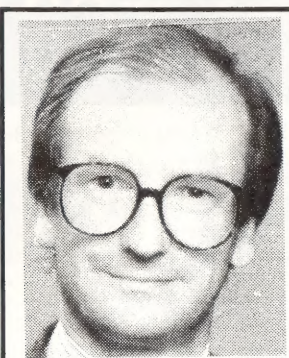

PETER PAN'S PANTO PERVERTS!

TINKERBELLE wasn't the only fairy at London's Drill Hall production of Peter Pan last Christmas. Because this was the lesbian feminist version of the story, written by two queers, Bryony Lavery and Nona Sheppard. In which Peter Pan isn't the Boy Who Wouldn't Grow Up but "the Girl Who Has Problems Admitting She's a Lesbian".

Tinkerbell and Tiger Lily are in a homosexual relationship - Tinkerbell gets a specially big hand from the audience for her "If you believe in fairies, clap your hands!" line. Whilst Captain Hook is a transsexual lesbian. And Mummy Darling is living with Mummy Darling Two. Mr. Darling is never mentioned. Only the Darling children are remotely normal, although no doubt Wendy "Comes Out" by the end of the show.

What the author of Peter Pan, J.M. Barrie, would have thought of this perversion of his innocent children's tale beggars thinking about. Meanwhile in the National Theatre The Wind in the Willows was replete with suggestions of mass homosexuality on the riverbank. Such are children's Christmas treats in Britain today.

Storm In Coventry Over NF Leaflet

• SAWDON: "Appalled".

THE NATIONAL Front's leaflet to parents informing them of how to ensure a British education for their children has created a storm in Coventry. The Coventry 'Evening Telegraph' attacks the leaflet in its Leader arguing that the "implication that White children can be withdrawn from schools where pupils are predominantly Black is a disgusting suggestion".

Tory Councillor, Tim Sawdon, was "appalled" that the NF were advocating that freedom of choice in education should apply to race as well, while Callum Collins of Coventry TUC was worried that the leaflet would find support amongst many parents.

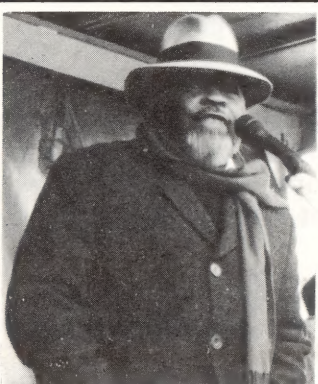

NF Chairman, Ian Anderson, confirmed to the 'Evening Telegraph' that parents were responding to the leaflet and that another 60,000 were on their way to NF branches.

Marching For More Immigration!

ABOUT 8,000 assorted students, reds, anarchists, lesbian rights activists and others shuffled their way along Park Lane in London on Saturday 18th January. They were demanding that all refugees, bogus or otherwise, from all four quarters of the world should be admitted to our small islands.

The demonstration was organised by the National Union of Students using the money they extract from all students, no matter what their political views. The placards on the march were, as usual, denoted by those of the declining Socialist Workers Party - one of the few groups left in the world who still believe in the value of communism.

The marchers were somewhat startled out of their lethargic shuffle by the sudden appearance alongside their march of a group of about 20 National Front members who don't think that Britain should be the world's dumping ground. Holding aloft a large union jack and a number of posters they caused panic amongst the hordes of police officers who dashed across the road to snatch the banner and posters and jostle the NF members who had such effrontery in opposing this sick and ridiculous march.

As the NF members peacefully withdrew, one police officer spotted NF Chairman, Ian Anderson. He rushed across and arrested Mr Anderson with the illuminating comment: "How many more of you Nazis are there?". However once ensconced in the police van the various other police officers started chatting to Mr Anderson and by the time the van reached the police station, it was the arresting officer who was feeling alone and vulnerable, while Ian Anderson was discussing the finer points of NF policy with an interested and attendant group of police officers.

At the police station Ian Anderson was charged with "displaying a sign which was threatening, abusive or insulting within the sight of a person likely to be caused harassment, alarm or distress thereby". The poster which was so deemed, carried the slogan: "Put the British People First".

It came as no great surprise when Mr Anderson appeared in court a few days later that the Crown Prosecution Service announced that the charge was being withdrawn as "not being in the public interest". No, it probably isn't in the Government's interest to reveal that one of their police officers is an imbecile and that they are attempting to stifle free speech in a way that would seem draconian in Moscow.

• ATTENTIVE AUDIENCE: Steve Brady goes over the finer points of electioneering at the Organisers' Conference in Birmingham. Steve later went on to condemn the anti-immigration fringe groups around the Tory Party as hypocrites and con-men exploiting people's genuine fears.

ORGANISERS' CONFERENCE:

PREPARING FOR THE GENERAL ELECTION

ON SUNDAY 19th January officials of the National Front from right across England met in a Birmingham hotel to discuss our strategy and tactics for 1992. The debates were interesting and very useful and resulted in a number of decisions concerning the direction and emphasis of our efforts this year.

The introduction was by NF Chairman Ian Anderson who pointed out the current vacuum in British politics and the opportunities open to the National Front. The debate then centred on the General Election and a firm decision was taken not to field what are known as "paper candidates". Instead all candidates will be supported by a full campaign and by the distribution of an election leaflet to every household in each constituency contested.

It was also decided to mount a major campaign for the May local elections. After this there was a discussion on the acquisition of a building for use by the NF and it was agreed to defer this until after these elections, but then to go ahead as quickly as possible.

Throughout the day the discussions were very friendly and constructive and at lunchtime a very pleasant drink and chat helped to make the whole day enjoyable as well as useful. Particularly pleasing were the many ideas and opinions which were ventured by officials, many of which are being incorporated in our range of operations.

SUCCESSFUL DAY OF ACTION IN GRIMSBY

A SUCCESSFUL day of action was held in Grimsby recently where a large number of copies of The FLAG were sold and hundreds of leaflets about the decline of the fishing industry were handed out.

The papersale took place outside Blundell Park, the home of Grimsby Town Football Club and went down very well with the locals as well as the visiting supporters. There were also two policemen who bought copies of the paper to read back at the station.

FUNDS RAISED FOR THE PDF

by Gary Needs

OVER £160 was raised for the Patriots Defence Fund at a social event organised by the Exeter Branch of the National Front.

ON TARGET

DEVON NATIONAL Front are making great strides towards their target of £1,200 the amount necessary to fund the campaign for Robert Jones their candidate for Torbay at the General Election. An anonymous donation of £50.00 from a supporter in Paignton has taken the fund to £817.00.

The main part of the evening was taken up by a skittles competition where North Devon beat teams from South Devon, the North of England and East London.

The event was enjoyed by everybody that attended. The P.D.F. is planning to hold these events every 4 months. The next social will be held in the West-Midlands in April. These events are an ideal opportunity for members of different branches to get to know each other and enjoy themselves.

I would like to ask the NF Branches to support these events, by either attendance or financial donations.

FRONT TURN OUT TO OPPOSE THE IRA!

TWENTY YEARS ago members of the IRA opened fire on British troops in Londonderry. The IRA gunmen were located in an area which they called "Free Derry" because the normal forces of law and order had been withdrawn as a result of Government weakness.

On that day in 1972 the forces of a battalion of the Parachute Regiment had been ordered to conduct a "scoop-up" operation to arrest any rioters who split away from a Republican march.

When fired upon by the IRA gunmen the soldiers of 1 Para reacted by returning fire and moving into that part of the United Kingdom from which British troops had previously been excluded. In the crossfire 13 people died.

Despite the obvious fact that their deaths are the result of the actions of the IRA, Republican groups have, each year, commemorated their 'martyrs'. This year, being the 20th anniversary they had hoped for a really large turn-out for their march in London organised by the "Troops Out Movement".

In the event, on the 25th January, barely 1,000 apologists for the IRA assembled in Hyde Park for their march into • IRA MARCHERS: They chanted "Support the Provoes".

Kilburn. In order to assemble even this number they were forced to rely on the support of the "Kurdistan Peoples' Liberation Organisation".

About 50 National Front members met up at a pub some way from the route of the march and made their way in one's and two's to the march. Metropolitan police officers, acting on orders (just like East German border guards) attempted to prevent this and stopped the NF members whenever recognised, and took away any NF literature on them.

Despite their best efforts, most of the NF members made their way to the parade and indicated their opposition by displaying banners and singing "Rule Britannia".

One NF member was arrested for voicing opposition to the march. Donations to help pay any fine should be sent to the Patriots Defence Fund, P.O. Box 51, Exeter, Devon EX2 8AN.

FOCUS NORTH-WEST With Stephen Ebbs

NEW DEPTHS

BLACKBURN'S FIRST housing association solely for the use of the Asian Community has been set up to tackle a shortage of homes.

'Ashiana' (which means nest or 'shelter' in Urdu) will manage 17 five and three bedroomed houses and four elderly person's flats in Highbury Place. It plans to extend to Hyndburn and Preston.

Advice, training, office space and clerical support will be offered by North British Housing Association who developed the homes.

Ashiana will be responsible for rents, repairs and maintenance on the homes which will be let to Asian families only although Blackburn Council will be funding the project to the tune of £17,000 per annum for three years under the Urban Programme.

There are many other folk in Blackburn who could do with a home but they have the gross disadvantage of being British. When, if ever, will a housing association with council funding be set up for them?

WHY HERE?

IN BURNLEY a group was launched to socialise and discuss problems at... for Asian women only.

The group will be called 'Shapla' (after the national flower of Bangladesh) and its launch was to coincide with Bangladesh's Independence Day. A five day cultural exhibition including books, posters, musical instruments, clothes and artefacts followed the launch.

It is suggested, however, that to give it a true Bangladeshi feeling it should be held there.

They may shout 'racist' to the suggestion, but all their actions support that location.

RACE WAS THE REASON!

DILIGENT READERS of The FLAG will recall that in issue No. 54 it was predicted that further Labour councillors would be deselected because they were not Asian. It has now happened.

Councillor John Gramsie, who has represented Blackburn's Bank Top ward for three and a half years, has been deselected and Mr. Mohammed Khan chosen in his place.

Coun. Gramsie, who was ousted by only a few votes claimed that some people who voted lived outside the ward and were not eligible to vote. Others were recruited on unemployment membership and never turned up except to vote at that meeting.

The DLP Vice-Chairman, Raja Ashraf, commented "It was fair and square. Mr. Khan was elected. He is a very hard worker".

Deputy Labour leader Coun. Maureen Bateson, who was the first in Blackburn to be deselected by her ward on the grounds of race - but was unfortunately selected by another ward - commented "There has always been a vociferous element at Bank Top".

Vociferous or not, it is plain to see that Asians want Asian representation.

NOW YOU KNOW!

THE HASLINGDEN branch of the National Westminster Bank have recently donated £250 from its charity fund to assist in a facelift at the Kashmiri Association Centre at Whalley Range, Blackburn.

Now you know where some of the immoral and extortionate bank charges are going.

COAL IMPORTS PUT BRITISH MINERS ON THE DOLE

OVER A THOUSAND Yorkshire miners are to lose their jobs thanks to imported foreign coal; and sinister international financiers, who have the ear of the Tory Government, are calling for the closing down of three-quarters of the remaining British pits and total dependence on foreign coal for Britain's coal-fired power supply.

The massive closures at the modern Selby pits in South Yorkshire come as British Coal is trying to renegotiate contracts with the electricity generators who buy most of its output. But our national power supply has been sold off by the Tories to bankers and Stock Market speculators, out for a quick killing. And they have made it clear that means dumping British coal for inferior, but cheaper, foreign imported coal the minute the contracts with British Coal they inherited at privatisation run out in 1993. Making Britain dependant for the power that keeps our industry and society going on seaborne imports from foreigners.

Selby is only the latest step in the run-down of British coal. In 1984 there were over 170,000 Britons employed in the industry. Today there are less than 50,000. And further closures are threatened.

Plans for massive further closures, reducing the surviving 50 working pits to fewer than 12, are being whispered into the Government's ear by sinister cosmopolitan merchant bankers N.M. Rothschilds in a series of secret reports to the Tory leadership. Rothschilds, "special advisers" to the Government have called for the closure of most of the British coal industry. British Coal has said that on average when one pit closes it means the loss of a thousand jobs and a million tons a year of coal output. Rothschilds want to close at least 38 pits.

The Tories are believed to agree, and to have decided already to "privatise" - i.e. sell off to the City sharks and the likes of Rothschilds - British Coal after the election. While British miners and whole communities rot on the dole, and British industry becomes dependant on foreigners for its power supply, fat Tory businessmen and their alien advisers who whisper counsels of greed and evil in their ears will wax even fatter.

Even leaving the welfare of ordinary British workers and their communities aside, two world wars and the 1973-74 OPEC "oil shock" should have hammered home the danger of becoming dependant on foreigners for energy. America, dependant on Arab Gulf oil, had to go to war last year to secure her supply. But our abundant coal reserves mean we could be self-sufficient in energy far into the future, by which time our technological and inventive genius should have secured permanent renewable energy sources.

That's why the National Front supported the miners in 1984 when they struck to defend Britain's indigenous energy supply. But, as we warned the miners then, Communists exploited their brave fight for their own ends - ends now made irrelevant anyway by the death of Communism among Europeans.

In the process they alienated the patriotic groundswell of British public opinion, which Thatcher's Tories were able to harness to their crusade to break the NUM and make the country safe for unrestrained plutocratic greed and the likes of N.M. Rothschild.

But the miners were right to fight. And the National Front will see that they win in the end, and Britain's energy supply is once more secured. For we will re-open the pits of Yorkshire and the Rhondda, and from the depths of the British land bring forth again the fire to drive the engines of British industry.

● THE STRIKE OF 1984: Miners were protecting Britain's indigenous energy supply.

TORIES SCUTTLE CLEAN COAL

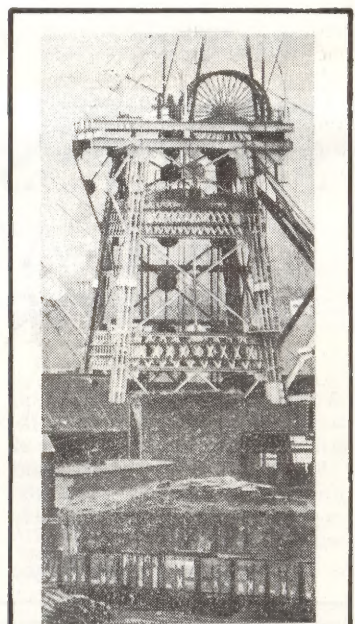

THE WORLD-beating British Clean Coal-burning technology project at Grimethorpe, South Yorkshire is to be axed in Government cuts. Developing such clean coal-burning technology for power stations is generally seen as essential if British coal is to beat off the threat from imported coal and natural gas.

The only thing wrong with coal as an energy source is the pollution, notably sulphur dioxide, it produces, which Grimethorpe was intended to find a cure for. The project has already had £27 million of taxpayers' money spent on it and was producing worthwhile results. But it is to be shut down at the end of this month.

British Association of Colliery Managers' spokesman John Meades slammed the closure as premature: "More work needs to be done on the technology which has been developed at Grimethorpe. If the Government does not provide substantial funds for a further stage, they have written the industry off".

Last year the Commons Energy Select Committee itself attacked what it called the Government's "stop-go" attitude to funding clean-coal research in Britain.

Top energy expert Professor Ian Fells of Newcastle University summed up the effect of yet another short-sighted Government axing of the fruits of British brainpower: "The UK has missed the boat on developing clean coal technology, which will be a vital part of power generation in future".

● COAL: A vital part of power generation in the future.

THEY DIED FOR AMERICA'S OIL INTERESTS

THE US AIR Force General in charge of the "allied" air forces in the Gulf war has attacked the families of nine British Servicemen murdered by US pilots in the Iraqi deserts for seeking the truth about how their loved ones died. And he blames their death on British servicemen, not his own American pilots.

Lieutenant-General Charles Horner abuses the bereaved British families in a BBC book, By All Necessary Means - Inside the Gulf War. Of the families' 10-month campaign to get at the truth through a smokescreen of American lies he says "I think its picking at a scab".

This has outraged the father of Paul Atkinson, the 19-year-old fusilier who was one of the nine British infantrymen who were slain when a US A-10 tankbuster plane opened fire on two British armoured personnel carriers in the desert on February 26th last year. He said notwithstanding the US General, his family would "do everything possible to find out why our son died. We have no alternative but to push forward".

Push forward against official

● VICTIM: Susan Cole's son Conrad was one of the nine killed by US fire.

American lies and attempts to blame us for their incompetence. Horner repeats an American claim first mooted in a report from the Pentagon - that the US pilots were misled by British air traffic controllers saying there were no friendly forces in the area.

This claim was decisively refuted by a British Ministry of defence report of 24th July which cleared the British controllers and questioned the US pilots' failure to check who they were shooting at. The lead US pilot's claim that the British vehicles were not marked with "allied" insignia was exposed as, in the words of the victims' families, "an outrageous lie" by TV footage showing them clearly marked.

The truth is undoubtedly that in their incompetence - typical of the US armed forces - the American pilots simply opened fire at the first military vehicle they saw and ran away. Then their superiors lied to cover for them. As usual the Americans did none of what real fighting there was in the Gulf - leaving it to us, the French and the West's technological wizardry.

Most of the Britons who died in the Gulf were murdered by Americans on "our side". They died for nothing. Just as we predicted beforehand, the war achieved nothing as far as Britain was concerned. Saddam Hussein, whose overthrow was the supposed purpose of "Desert Storm" is still firmly in power. But America's Gulf oil supplies are safe. And nine young Britons died in a desert far away, slain by those whose war they had gone to fight.

OBITUARIES

IT IS with great sadness that we have to announce the deaths of three members of the National Front.

Tom Whitehall, Wolverhampton NF's treasurer for many years passed away on 24th October last year after a long illness. Tom was a long-standing member of the NF and did a meticulous job as a branch official. He was a pleasant, polite and warm-hearted man and his friends and colleagues in West Midlands NF mourn his passing. Our sympathies go to Tom's wife and family.

Henry Pearce of Newton Abbot also passed away recently. He was a loyal member of the Devon NF branch for many years. Though not active in his later years, Henry always gave a monthly donation and did what he could to help.

Sorely missed at the Brighton Branch of the National Front will be chairman Major (Ret'd) Walter Hill who peacefully passed away in Hove General Hospital. Walter was an excellent branch member seldom missing a meeting during the late 1980's and took over as Branch Chairman in 1989, a position he held until his death on December 23rd.

Britons Pay To Protect the IRA!

Steve Brady Reports

THE BRUTAL MURDER of eight British building workers by the IRA is yet another atrocity in an IRA terror campaign which is fast spiralling out of control. The IRA kills and bombs its way across Britain, from the country lanes of Co. Tyrone to the gates of Downing Street, with complete freedom. Why?

It is common knowledge now that the security forces are forbidden by the Government to round up the 250 terrorists behind the IRA campaign, even though they know who they are and where to find them. But it has now emerged that it is worse than that. The Government makes British soldiers and policemen protect IRA killers, while it funds their activities with our social security money, paid for with our taxes.

How the British Government guards the IRA has emerged from the recent trial of an Army agent for some reason infiltrated, bafflingly, not into the IRA but into the UDA, who are on the British side in Ulster, one Brian Nelson. A deft bit of plea bargaining stopped too much coming out in Court.

But it has emerged that Nelson passed to the Army the names of notorious IRA killers whose careers his British associates wished to terminate, despairing of the authorities ever doing so. Whereupon our Army went to people who murder our soldiers and warned them they were in danger, so they could escape the justice of the British people and kill more British soldiers, policemen and civilians. If the IRA terrorists ignored this friendly warning, the Ulster police would arrest them and hold them for a few days on a bogus charge, promptly dropped, to keep them out of harm's way. IRA killers have thus been safe-housed in British police stations.

On another occasion Nelson revealed that there was a plan to blow up the notorious Gerry Adams, former IRA "chief of staff", current IRA-front M.P. for West Belfast and one of the most evil men in Ulster. Acting on his tipoff, British security forces were used to save the life on this worthless scumbag. The colonel commanding Military Intelligence in Ulster 1986-89 told the court at Nelson's trial that leading IRA spokesman Adams thus "owed his life to the British Army". Not a favour the IRA is likely to return in a hurry.

UNBELIEVABLE

These unbelievable revelations have emerged from research conducted by two BBC journalists, John Ware and Geoffrey Seed, since February 1990. If you can't believe them, check for yourself with Messrs. Seed and Ware's report in the London Independent for January 9th.

More astonishing revelations

One MI6 security force source was quoted as saying that "Of the back-up IRA personnel, providing safe houses, drivers and couriers, we believe over half are receiving benefits. That means the sum runs to nearly £25 million a year".

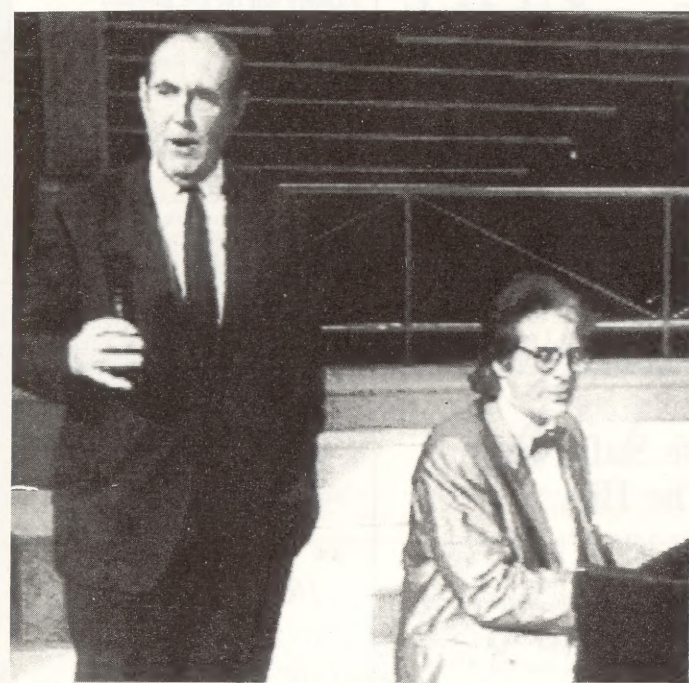

None of this comes as any surprise to us on The FLAG. We've pointed much of it out in general terms before. It just confirms what we've been saying. But it must surely open the eyes of patriots across the country who really thought a Conservative Government was serious about fighting the IRA.

REVOLTING

If their eyes weren't opened by the revolting spectacle of a Tory Ulster Secretary, Peter Brooke, smirking and singing silly songs on a Dublin chat-show while ordinary British workers were being murdered by the IRA - and by a Tory Prime Minister subsequently backing him by refusing his thousandfold-merited resignation.

No, for all their empty words the Tories aren't serious about fighting the IRA. Labour of course supports their aim of the Irish conquest of the British Province of Ulster.

It's time they got out of the way and made room for those who are serious about fighting the terrorists. The National Front, who will give the IRA not police protection, dole cheques and £25 million of British taxpayers' money but what they really deserve. One terrorist - one bullet.

• REVOLTING: Brooke sings in Dublin while the IRA murder in Ulster.

SHAKESPEARE VIOLATED

THE WORKS of England's greatest playwright are to be 'camped up' for queers. That is the intention of Tim Luscombe, Artistic Director of the newly-formed London Gay Theatre Company. Luscombe, who has directed many West End successes and was nominate as Best Newcomer in the 1988 Olivier Awards, set up the camp Company because he felt "stified" in conventional theatre.

HANG OUT

But now he can let it all hang out. His Queers' Company plan to open with a transvestite musical version of Lorca's The House of Bernarda Alba before getting stuck into the Bard. "Hamlet would be fabulous" Luscombe coos. "I would play up the gay relationship between Horatio and Hamlet and make the Ophelia-Hamlet relationship a planned marriage by the fathers. The Christians in The Merchants of Venice and Prince Hal's chums in the Henry plays all have possibilities. One senses that the Eastcheap pubs were places of infinite variety". The Two Gentlemen of Verona are also in trouble, no doubt!

What, one wonders, would old Will have made of this mincing mockery? Not a lot, probably. But no less than he would have made of our decadent wreck of the England he loved.

STATE OF THE ARTS

"There's One Born Every Minute"

A 13" by 6" bit of wood with two daubs of yellow paint on it is the star attraction at London's Victoria Miro Art Gallery. This masterpiece, "The Yellows" by American 'minimalist' Richard Tuttle, is on offer to the discerning connoisseur for only £6,000.

For which modest sum the said punter could also adorn his wall with other Tuttle creations as "Crepe Paper under Plastic" - a roughly cut sheet of cardboard, three bits of bamboo and two strands of crumpled coloured crepe paper wrapped in cellophane. Or "Half-round woodchips": three semi-circular wood chips attached to a roughly torn sheet of brown paper, attached to the wall with two bits of sellotape (not included). For your £6,000 you do also get a bit of paper from the Artist Himself telling you where to stick the sellotape!

EXPENSE

All these "works" are confidently expected to sell. Similar Tutttles hang in the world's great art galleries, from the Whitney in New York to the Stedelijk in Amsterdam, all purchased at similarly ludicrous prices at taxpayers' expense. Whilst arty types thrill in tones such as those of Susan Harris, writing of his exhibition in the new Amsterdam ICA last September that "Tuttle communicates with a vocabulary that resists interpretation... his work has literally and philosophically expanded the boundaries of art." Or Barbara Cavaliere, writing in the 1989 Contemporary Artists: Tuttle's works are "so odd, so attenuated and so close to becoming invisible, they draw the viewer closer to contemplate the delicate interplays between the solid and the ephemeral".

One may uncharitably wonder if Tuttle himself is more interested in contemplating the delicate interplays between punters of such ilk and their cheque-books. As they say, "there's one born every minute"!

Imbert & the IRA

ON TWO recent occasions, officers of the Metropolitan Police have forcibly prevented legitimate demonstrations by National Front members. On both occasions individual officers have told us that they have been acting under specific orders to prevent any National Front display of opposition to such marches.

One officer in a moment of unusual candour told us that they could not control a pro-IRA march if NF protestors appeared alongside.

Now, firstly, this is blatantly untrue. On numerous occasions in the past the NF has organised such counter demonstrations both in London and in places such as Manchester and Birmingham. In fact, the National Front has been the ONLY organisation to consistently oppose pro-IRA marches in England. On all such recent occasions there has been no outbreak of violence or disorder.

Secondly, if there is fear of serious disorder from the marchers, then it is the DUTY of the Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police, under the Public Order Act, to apply to the Home Secretary for a ban on the march. Sir Peter Imbert, the current Commissioner has steadfastly refused to ban pro-IRA marches and has been responsible for issuing orders to suppress any opposition to such marches.

The National Front believes in the right to demonstrate by any lawful group unless they advocate taking up arms against the state - which is precisely what the pro-IRA marchers are advocating. There can be no pretence that they are simply calling for the withdrawal of troops: the marchers chant "IRA, IRA, IRA" without any interference from the police or stewards, marchers have been regularly seen with collecting tins clearly marked for the IRA, etc. Because of this it is clear that such marches should simply not be allowed.

While the Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police may like to connive with the IRA in allowing marches to promote their terrorist organisation, the National Front will continue to oppose such marches and will step up our active opposition to these disgusting parades.

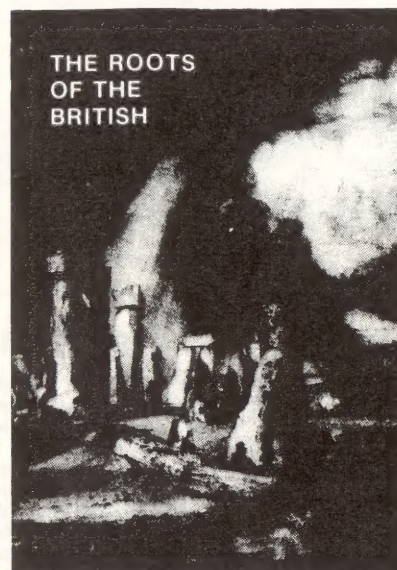

Brave Men and Women

AT THE General Election at least 15 candidates in constituencies throughout Britain will be representing the National Front.

Putting oneself forward as a candidate for the NF in the present climate means much hardwork for very little material reward. The men and women representing the National Front in either April or May of this year are a cut above the vast majority of politicians in Britain today.

Not only do they have a clear insight into the disasters that are facing Britain, they also have the courage to stand up, against the powerful multi-racial lobby and their acolytes in the media, and offer the British people a real alternative.

The Roots of the British

Who are we as a people? Where did the British come from? Are we a nation of immigrants as some multi-culturalists would argue?

All this and more is answered in STEVE BRADY'S brilliant book.

No Nonsense when Dealing with AIDS & Crime

HUNGARY HAVE set an example on how to deal with their 40,000 illegal immigrants.

Asians, Arabs and African nationals are being returned to their countries of ethnic origin by the Hungarian Government in a policy designed to relieve unemployment and homelessness.

LABOUR COUNCIL INSISTS "WHITES ONLY"

THE FAMOUS Black and White Minstrels were told not to 'black-up' when they appeared at the Rotherham Civic Theatre in January.

The town's Labour-controlled Council instructed the Minstrels that in the interest of race relations they would not be able to make-up as Negroes.

Peter Foot, the shows producer said the show had toured for 12 years without incident and that many of the audience in Rotherham felt cheated when no Black Minstrels appeared.

Scoring a Goal for a British Education

A FORMER manager of the Third Division Torquay United has taken on a new role in standing up for British education in the South Devon Town.

John Sims a former player as well as boss at Plainmoor threatened to take his son away from Torquay's Westlands School after the twelve year-old was given a full term's instruction in the Islamic Faith.

Sims described the lessons as 'potty' and a waste of his son's valuable education, but Westlands Head, Gruff Madoc-Jones, said such instruction was "vital in a multi-cultural society".

It looks as though John Sims could well be in action again. Next term's religious lessons are about the Hindu view of God!

Manchester's Polluted Rivers

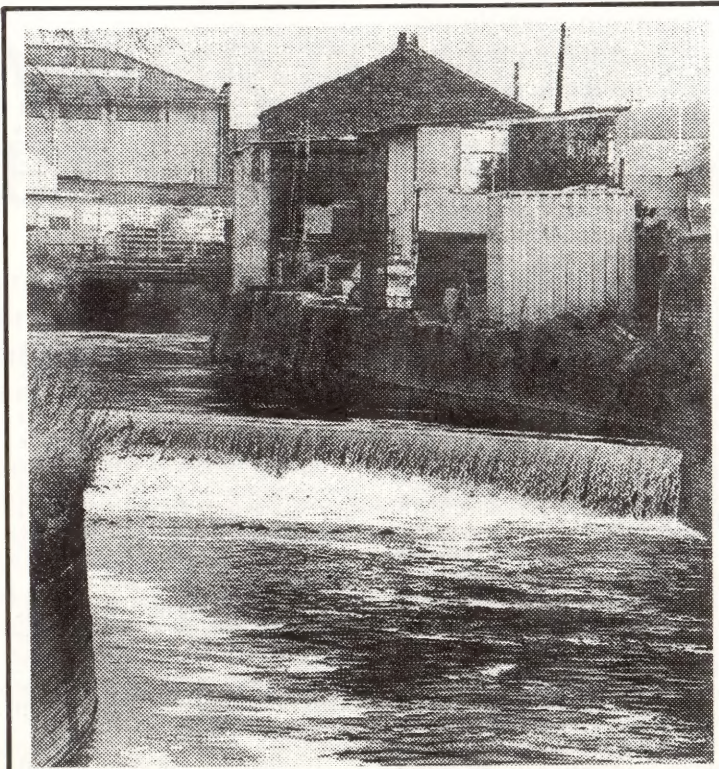

MANCHESTER RIVERS are some of the most polluted and dirtiest in the country and they are getting worse according to the National Rivers Authority.

An NRA spokesman said that the Mersey Basin rivers had been extensively used for urban and industrial waste, and received the run-off from intensive farming methods.

The National Front would solve the problem of Manchester's dirty rivers by implementing a national environmental strategy which transcends the narrow short-term profit motive that has been so engendered by successive Conservative Governments.

We would stop illegal industrial discharges into our rivers by imprisoning the culprits. We would implement much stricter controls on the use of chemicals in farming and place the cleaning up of Britain's rivers high on our environmental policy priorities.

DON'T DO AS I DO . . .

THE HIGH Tory 'Daily Telegraph' is forever berating the British public for their failure to face up to economic realities. Indeed, so fanatical is the 'Telegraph's' determination to stamp out inflation that it has even gone so far as to condemn Germany's steel industry employers for setting a bad example by granting a 6.4% wage increase to their workers - 'far above the rate of inflation', wails the 'Telegraph' leader writer.

As a matter of interest, the rate of inflation in Britain is officially 4.5%. The day before its critical leader article appeared, the 'Telegraph' upped its own price by twelve and a half percent.

Diary of a Nobody

THE STARTLING revelations about Liberal Leader Paddy Ashdown left me strangely unmoved apart from a mild surprise that the sexual misdemeanours of any Liberal involved a member of the opposite sex. The fact that darling Paddy always poses as the defender of the high moral ground merely means that he has been exposed as a cheat and a phoney. So what's new?

Naturally he received immediate moral support from his fellow M.P.s, among whom may be counted any number of crooks, perverts and child molesters, but that may simply have been due to fellow feeling. They were certainly right however to suggest that it was a matter of no importance who he's been groping recently in his tawdry extra-marital exploits.

The fact that he'd been receiving very little media exposure recently caused me to wonder if he'd blown the whole thing himself in the hope of getting the kind of coverage and sympathy enjoyed by Governor Bill Clinton, the would-be Democratic presidential candidate and fellow-groper across the Atlantic.

Apparently not. Pardon my yawn but really it's just a very small storm in a tiny teacup - an extract from the Diary of a Nobody.

The Same the Whole World Over

ANYONE WHO has been unfortunate enough to require dental treatment recently and has emerged from the surgery dazed and thinking in terms of an application for bankruptcy will appreciate the following news item: In Osaka, Japan, an attempt was made on the life of Mr Hiroshi Oyama, a dentist. A gunman fired a shot at Mr Oyama, hitting him in the chest. The dentist escaped unharmed however when the bullet failed to penetrate his well-stuffed wallet.

IMMIGRATION

MORE THAN a quarter of a million people migrated to the United Kingdom in 1990, a rise of 7% on the previous year.

38,000 new arrivals came from the New Commonwealth - India, Pakistan, Africa and the Caribbean while 32,000 came from the Old Commonwealth - Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

But by far the largest contingent, 106,000, was made up of "British citizens" returning from a spell abroad. This figure consisted almost entirely of people visiting their families in India and Pakistan.

PROMOTION OR ELSE!

POLICE FORCES throughout Britain are in a state of panic with regard to their recruits from the ethnic minorities after a series of actions by the Race Relations Board have resulted in heavy fines for the Force.

It appears that if ethnic recruits do not get the promotion they apply for they cry 'racist' and go running straight to the CRE. The latest case concerns Sergeant Raham Khan who has taken West Yorkshire Police to court because he hasn't been made an Inspector.

The Rabbi & Me!

IT IS not often that I find myself wholly in agreement with a Rabbi. However, just recently when a Rabbi described television as "an open sewer running through the living room" I could scarce forbear to cheer.

The decline in sexual morality in Britain is truly a national disgrace. Some might claim that the responsibility for this situation should be laid at the door of the Brook Clinics. They have been avidly "counselling" young people for years and have just come up with their latest remedy, apart from abortion on demand, for the current escalation of pregnancies among schoolgirls. It is to give them more "sex education" while still in Middle School. I seem to recall that they have also recommended distributing condoms in kindergartens but that may have been my imagination and their next move but one.

However, I have no doubt that the major guilt for Britain's moral decline lies with the freaks and perverts who run our television services. For the last twenty years and more they have saturated the minds of our youth with rotten ethics. Their version of love is boy meets girl. Five minutes later boy hops into bed with girl. They have now made it virtually obligatory for every play to contain a scene of bedroom athletics, however gratuitous and incongruous the context. There is the world of Peeping Tom and the salivating voyeur that constant repetition has brought perilously close to reality because of that open sewer that runs through our living rooms and makes the whole world stink.

The Government was so disturbed by the decline in the standards of TV morality that it invented the Broadcasting Standards Council to monitor it and appointed the great William Rees-Mogg as its Chairman.

In recent months there has been scarcely an evening when there has not been a play or film that has not contained explicit scenes of simulated sexual intercourse - usually of the casual variety - in the mid evening when impressionable teenagers would certainly be watching. Films and plays containing the filthiest language are now the near obligatory norm.

After twenty years as a shop steward I have become accustomed to hearing such language in the workshop, especially since most of it was directed at me. However, when it becomes the common currency in our living rooms it shocks and disgusts me.

That though is not the opinion of William Rees-Mogg. He has declared that such things are quite in order since British people are no longer offended, even by the filthiest four letter words.

Just so. Soldiers become hardened to the sight of rotting corpses on the battlefield. If defecation and fornication were commonplace in broad daylight on our streets it would become the norm. There are no depths to which the human species may sink to which we will not eventually become inured.

As the poet Alexander Pope observed: "Vice is a monster of so frightful mien - As to be hated needs but to be seen - Yet seen too oft, familiar with her face - We first endure, then pity, then embrace."

"But where th' extreme of vice, was ne'er agreed - Ask where's the North, at York it's on the Tweed - In Scotland, at the Orkades and there - At Greenland, Zembla, or the Lord knows where."

In short, if no one has the courage to draw the line, there is no line.

So who will draw the line? Judging from his drivelling pronouncements, certainly not William Rees-Mogg. His is the authentic voice of pure Moggerly, expressed in the reasonable tones of the dedicated wimp and encompassing the consensus of the effete gentry who shape our lives.

That Old Refrain

ALTHOUGH THE art of modern propaganda is usually attributed to the late Dr Goebbels, he was in fact a mere fumbling amateur who would probably have been honest enough to admit that he acquired such small skills as he had at the feet of the true masters; the British media and the shadowy figures who pull their strings. Why, there actually were people who really believed that German soldiers enjoyed marching with Belgian babies impaled on their bayonets and that the Boer War occurred because fiendish Afrikaaners brutally attacked innocent British bystanders. That is real artistry.

The Ted Budden Column

Ted Budden was a founder member of the National Front. In his column he gives his view of the world. His comments and observations do not necessarily reflect NF Policy.

There has been a positive plethora of TV "documentaries" just lately about the rise of "Neo-Nazism" in Europe. There have also been more "investigations in depth" about the dreaded scourge in our "free press" than you can shake a stick at.

Perhaps, like me, you have a strange feeling of deja vu; of having been there before; of being taken up the garden path and down memory lane. Well, of course, we have been.

There has indeed been an upsurge of racial nationalism in Europe. Europeans resent the impact of the massive Third World immigrant flood that threatens to overwhelm their own declining and ageing nations. They are, moreover, prepared to express their resentment openly being neither as hypocritical or as timid as people in Britain.

An innocent might suppose that this expression of European racial identity would be welcome to the strange people who are sometimes dubbed "Euromaniacs". Not a bit of it. They all condemn it unreservedly. For such people perceive their kind of Europe as being a first step towards world government and fear that the resurgence of racial nationalism is a threat to their plans.

Perhaps the greatest success of the media's propaganda offensive over the years has been to misrepresent the desire to ensure the continuity and enhancement of one's own kind - that most fundamental and decent of human instincts - as being "Nazi". So successful has this propaganda ploy been that many simplistic folk now believe that it is impossible to be normal without being Nazi and play into the hands of the propagandists by accepting that they are just that.

And so the British media is able to misrepresent those who object to the destruction of their racial identity as being "Neo-Nazis", just as they did in Britain in the Sixties and Seventies.

In this they find willing accomplices among their intended victims, much as they did in Britain. The face of racial nationalism is thus projected as being small groups of youthful fatheads meeting in cellars, swilling beer, and suffering uncontrollable spasms of the right arm. A variation is that of the overgrown boy scouts who dress up in jungle greens, smear their faces with mud, and gallop through the woods firing cap pistols at each other. Both groups believe themselves to be frightfully menacing and sinister and are only too happy to appear on TV delcaring themselves to be Nazis.

That feeling of deja vu springs, of course, from the fact that there were a fair number of such people who latched on to the NF during its rise to prominence.

These posturing asses never did any work of value and were good for nothing except to give the media the opportunity to smear the NF very effectively. Such people always drifted away leaving nothing behind but a bad smell.

Now, with race a burning issue throughout Europe, they have surfaced again. If they did not exist it would be necessary for the media to invent them. In fact Posturing Ass Mark 2 is so uncannily similar to Posturing Ass Mark 1 that I really believe tha the media have done just that.

Be Safe With The IRA

THE TRIAL of police informer Brian Nelson in Northern Ireland has led to some revelations that will have caused astonishment to those simpletons who have been labouring under the misapprehension that the British Government is trying to eliminate the IRA.

For in Nelson's defence it has been stated that the information that he gave to the police about the intentions of Loyalist hit squads had saved the lives of hundreds of IRA men and their supporters, including IRA mouthpiece Gerry Adams.

Ah, so that's what the role of the security forces in Ulster really is - to protect the IRA from the vengeance of their victims. This goes a long way towards explaining how IRA killers are able to strut about in their no-go areas and emerge to kill at will when the fancy takes them.

Much has been made of such evidence by the media freaks and creeps who are suggesting that there may have been a measure of co-operation between the SAS and the Loyalist paramilitaries that has resulted in the SAS been less willing to kill the Loyalists than they are the IRA. Good heavens! How shameful that they should rather kill their enemies than their friends!

In fact, during their sixteen years deployment in N.Ireland, the SAS has killed less than forty IRA terrorists - scarcely a riproaring success and far from being a reign of terror. Indeed, if it were not for the Loyalist paramilitaries the IRA could base their recruiting drive on the claim that membership was the finest form of life insurance.

No wonder the Loyalists are bewildered and angry. We are all, of course, very much in favour of the rule of law. Alas the "rule of law" has not saved the lives of the IRA's victims in N.Ireland nor the lives of Airey Neave M.P. or Ian Gow M.P. nor their English victims blown to pieces in Birmingham and Guildford. The eight decent Loyalist working men murdered by the IRA just recently might also be thought to be rather more worthy of the protection of the "rule of law" than their killers. Alas the "rule of law" seems to be mostly effective in getting IRA supporters out of jail.

"IRA membership - the finest form of Life Insurance!"

Just how this incredible situation came to pass is explained by the presence in authority of public school twits like the Dublin warbler Peter Brooke aided and abetted by back-stabbing wretches such as the gay commando of the Liberal Democrats, Paddy Ashdown. Only Ashdown could have responded to the murder of the eight Ulster workmen by blaming the atrocity on the intransigence of Loyalist politicians and seeking to curry favour with SDLP "republican" hypocrites like Seamus Mallon who operate by permission of the IRA and seek to achieve the IRA's objectives by other means.

While N.Ireland suffers the death of a thousand cuts, such creatures are happy to dwell on about "the rule of law", something that will never be achieved until it bears some relationship to justice and is enforced by real men who are neither weak-kneed, chicken-hearted, or limp-wristed.

Tough Action is the Only Answer

I WRITE to say how pleased I was to receive a copy of the National Front's General Election Manifesto "Caring for Britain".

While I might argue with some of the finer points of policy I am broadly in agreement with the message imparted by the NF. I am particularly enthusiastic over your environmental policies.

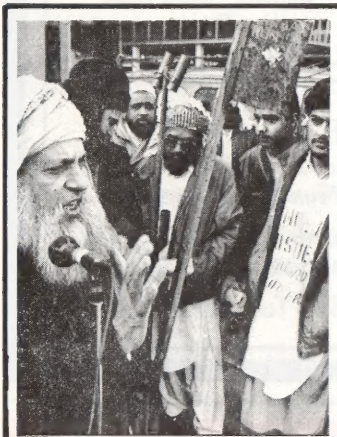

My local paper reports that a chemical company in Wigton, Cumbria, has released chemicals into a river killing 1,100 fish and eels. This was just the number of dead fish collected, thousands more had probably perished and were either washed away or had sunk beneath the sediment.

UBC Sidac were fined £1,000 for the discharge of solvent contaminated water containing iso-propanol, butanol and toluene into Wisa Beck.

It is a pathetic fine by itself, but its true insignificance is revealed when it came to light that the firm had three previous convictions for pollution including one in 1988 following an acid spill that killed 43,000 fish.

I am fully in agreement with the NF's policy of sending to prison the directors and managers of companies who continually pollute Britain's environment.

Dr J. Barwise,
Carlisle,
Cumbria.

• MUSLIMS: Not British

The Treason is Present!

I'D LIKE to take exception to your 'Muslim Parliament' article in last month's issue.

To describe the initiators of this as traitors - guilty of treason is ludicrous. Treason is a crime committed by a member of a community against that community. The Muslims concerned know, as we do, that they are not and can never be British.

The treason is present however. The producers of the 'Mickey Mouse' passports which describe any Tom, Dick and Harry as British are guilty of it, as are the Trade Union leaders who destroyed their own membership's negotiating powers by backing mass immigration.

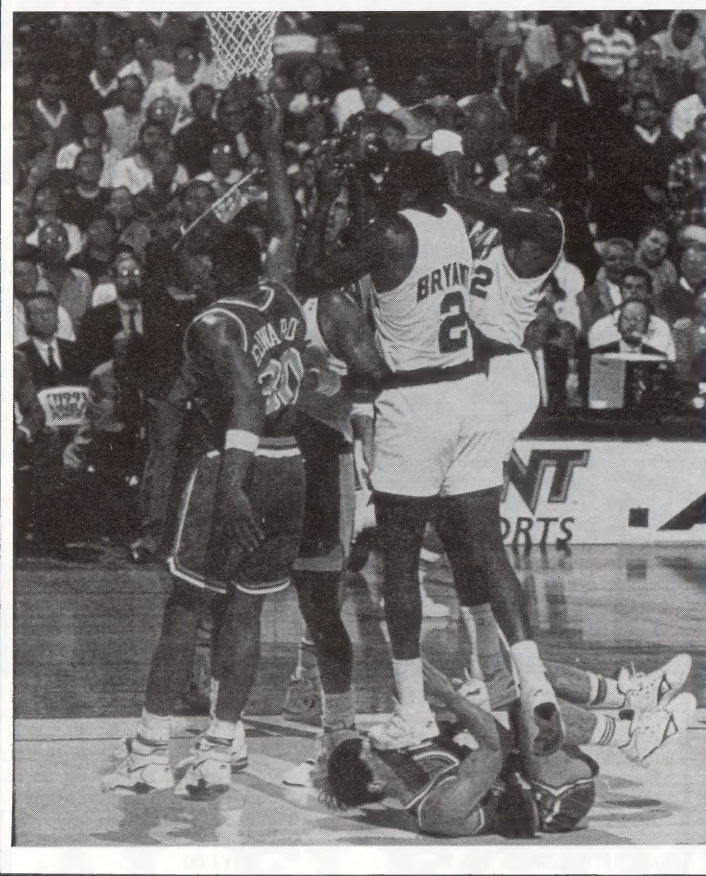

I doubt if history could provide a better example of the word treason than the acts of these people.

Ken Burrell,
Rollesby,
Norfolk.

WORDS OF WISDOM

"The world knows nothing of its greatest men"

Sir Henry Taylor,
1800-1886
Dramatist.

As Fickle as Linford

I ENCLOSE a rather poignant photograph which illustrates the steadily downtrodden state of the White man in sport.

On another matter it seems that sprinter, Linford Christie is to lead a boycott of a sporting link-up between Britain and South Africa. He says that since half the team to represent Britain is black, without them "what sort of team would we be sending?"

I can answer him with four words. "A TRULY BRITISH TEAM".

Meanwhile John Taylor is busily looking forward to the day when a 'full quota' of Blacks and Asians take their place at Westminster. One can only hope that these people will be as fickle as Linford Christie and when legislation is debated that they don't like, they boycott Parliament.

Paul Snell,
Ilkeston,
Derbyshire.

Don't Let Them Get Away With It!

I ATTEND Wolverhampton Polytechnic once a week for a Building Management Course. During January the building was covered with Socialist Workers Posters advertising the forthcoming pro-immigration march in London.

I find it very difficult to swallow that marches, posters and agitation in favour of immigration is perfectly acceptable yet voices raised against immigration are considered 'beyond the pale'.

I don't think we should let them get away with it. The more we make known what we believe in and make it public, the more interest people will take in us. We can introduce our policies to new members, who in turn will make us stronger and a force to be reckoned with.

Mark Cowles,
West Bromwich,
West Midlands.

• REMEMBRANCE DAY: Beckenham NF honour Britain's War Dead.

The Ceremony 'The FLAG' Forgot to Mention

IN JANUARY'S paper there was no mention of Beckenham NF's Annual Remembrance Day Service.

For the last four years we have joined the dignitaries of our Borough in commemorating the sacrifice of Britain's war dead in a moving service at our local War Memorial.

I think 'The FLAG' should have mentioned this.

Mrs Diana Fleming,
Bromley, Kent.

It Must Be For Queen & Country

AT A recent local branch meeting I mentioned the Queen to one of our members, who didn't think much about Her Majesty.

I think that the National Front should make its policy clear. Are we or are we not a patriotic party? If we are our slogan should be "For Queen and Country".

We must hammer it home that Labour, Tory and Liberal Parties have nothing to offer except betrayal of Queen and Country and will sell us out to Europe.

The throne is in danger from Bursells and we in the National Front are the only people to stand up for Queen and Country.

D.A. Pinder,
Derby.

Pathetic Sentences

RECENTLY IN Birmingham a seven year-old boy was killed by a reckless driver. The driver was travelling at more than 70 mph in a 30 mph zone.

The motorist received a one year jail sentence plus a three year ban.

These pathetic sentences are handed out under a Tory Government, the so called 'Party of Law and Order'. When a National Front Government is elected, I trust we will see stiffer sentences for reckless drivers who kill; for what their crime is, is nothing short of murder.

Name and Address Supplied.

A Campaign to Get Your Teeth Into!

CONGRATULATIONS on the National Front's 25th Anniversary and good luck for the General Election campaign in the near future.

In the Bedfordshire Times recently it stated that Bedford's Racial Equality Unit was to be funded with Poll Tax money. The amount in question was £69,000. Such revelations must give Bedford NF an excellent campaign to get their teeth into.

Please could you send me details of the NF's 25th Anniversary dinner.

THOUGHT FOR THE MONTH

"When evil men are in power, crime increases. But the righteous will live to see the downfall of such men"

Proverbs 29,
Verse 16.
Good News Bible

ON THE GREEN FRONT

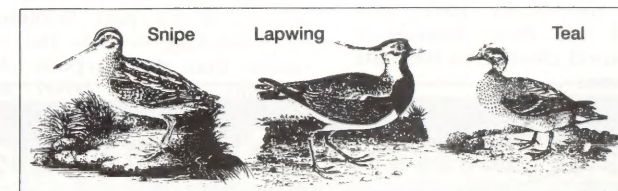

COUNTRYSIDE THREATENED

THE TORY Government have given the 'Green Light' to developers for an all-out assault on the British countryside.

In its latest guidance on rural planning for local authorities, the Environment Department said that two-thirds of farmland in England and Wales was of moderate to poor quality and there was no longer any particular reason to prevent it being put to non-farming use.

The change in policy by the Government is because too much food is being produced by Britain's agri-business combines. Exhausted land is not needed any more and just being left making it ideal prey for property developers.

The National Front believes in protecting Britain's countryside. The promotion of agri-business farming methods by the Tory Government is directly responsible for the vast tracks of poor quality land that are now unsuitable for further farming. A return to traditional farming methods would benefit both the countryside and farmers alike.

Worry Over Wetland Wildlife

BRITAIN'S WETLANDS are being drained, causing irreparable environmental damage and threatening rare wildlife.

Local drainage bodies in Somerset are continuing to lower water levels for a small number of intensive livestock and arable farmers. This has caused a serious decline in breeding waders and is threatening teal, lapwing, snipe and the black-tailed godwit.

The National Front believes that farmers and nature must work together and that is why there is no place for intensive farming on our tiny islands.

SAVED BY THE TRUST!

ONE OF Britain's most spectacular and isolated castles on the Northumberland coast has been saved from property developers after intervention from the National Trust.

The Trust has acquired 273 acres of coastal farmland between the fishing hamlet of Craster and the ruins of the 14th Century Dunstanburgh Castle in Northumberland.

The Council for the Protection of Rural England said however, that England's shores are under threat because planning controls to safeguard them are in a state of chaos.

The National Trust has also acquired coastline in Tyne and Wear and Co. Durham.

The Return of the Hare

PROOF THAT some farmers are returning to a more traditional mixed-cropping pattern of farming can be seen in the increase in Britain's hare population.

CYNICAL EXPLOITERS PUT BOXING ON THE VERGE OF CRIMINALITY

by Ted Budden

THERE WAS A time when all-in wrestling was all the rage on television. Most people thought it was good for a laugh as Gorgeous George and his friends grunted and groaned in unison. Some people actually took it seriously. There was much simulated violence and brutality and even more simulated agony. But it was all in fun. If one of the heavy mountains of wobbling flesh actually suffered injury it was totally unscripted.

Now boxing is the new TV spectacular. Like all-in wrestling it thrives on fake grudge matches. Unlike all-in wrestling people really do get hurt as poor Michael Watson can testify, which is why TV audiences love to watch it in this neo-Roman age of decadence.

But there was a time when boxing was a relatively clean sport. It was rigorously controlled by various National Boards of Control and by a recognised world authority. Boxing skill was respected. The champions were undisputed; having worked their way through all the contenders. Mis-matching was vigorously discouraged.

But that was before TV which has brought obscene amounts of money into the game and dirties everything it touches.

Before TV there were just eight champions at the various weights. Now all the weights below light-heavy have been divided into three. Instead of eight world champions there are now twenty.

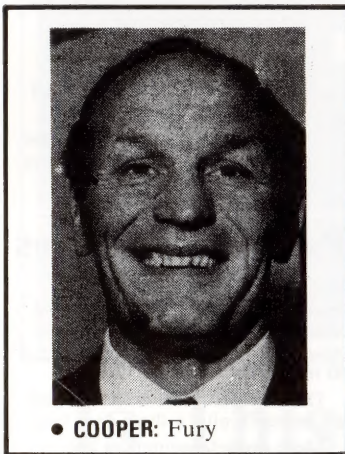

In addition, instead of one recognised world authority there are now four bodies claiming the privilege; the World Boxing Association; the International Boxing Federation; the World Boxing Council, and the World Boxing Organisation.

Since they all nominate their own world champions it is now possible to have eighty world champions at any time. If this is not enough, there are now "international championships" for boxers not rated in the top ten.

It is therefore possible to have championship boxing on TV every night of the year.

There are, however, fewer boxers than ever before in the history of the sport. Grotesque mis-matching is now the rule rather than the exception. Just recently, a British boxer, who shall be nameless, was flattened by an Italian in what was described as a "world championship bout". The British boxer held no title of any description and had lost his previous five fights.

Another better publicised mis-match was the much-hyped "comeback fight" between the third rate heavyweight Frank Bruno and John Emmen. Emmen is a thirty two year-old Dutchman who was totally unknown to most people. He had had only fifteen fights during his career as a light heavyweight and he had to put on a couple of stones of extra weight even to look like a heavyweight. He was billed, believe it or not, as the Champion of Benelux.

After a bizarre couple of minutes of pawing and wrestling Emmen hit the deck. It was billed as Bruno's big comeback fight on the way to a world championship challenge. It raked in a lot of cash and left that fine old heavyweight Henry Cooper near apoplectic with fury at the way his beloved sport had been disfigured.

Today punch-drunk has-beens are thrown into the ring to build up the reputations of up and coming youngsters who in turn are thrown into championship bouts before they have properly learned their trade. Many of those engaged in the sport are cynical exploiters on the verge of criminality while others are even more adjacent.

The noble art of manly self-defence is dead. If nobody gets hurt it doesn't draw flies.

This is why there is now a serious move to ban boxing altogether for professional boxing has provided plenty of justification.

Bring back Gorgeous George. He had style and he was funny and he was clean.

• MORE TITLES TO FIGHT FOR: But fewer boxers than ever before.
